

Bench-scale tests and pilot tests

Membratec is equipped with various bench-scale and pilot test plants which allow the study of a simple or complex treatment chain in order to evaluate the feasibility of a treatment or to select the ideal chain. These tests, in laboratory or real conditions, allow the optimisation of the treatment and the development of new applications.

Brochure